

Information from the Fairy Handbook

Preferred Fairy Jellybean Flavors in Various Countries

Fairies love to play a game called “If I were a jellybean, what flavor would I be?” The fairies living in North America are not allowed to pick lemon because that is the favorite flavor of all North American fairies. After choosing their flavor, the girls look in their handbooks to discover which fairies around the world prefer the same.

Africa – orange

Antigua – caramel corn

Argentina – butterscotch

Australia and New Zealand – mint

Austria – gingerbread

Barbados – green apple

Belgium – chocolate

Bonaire – pineapple

Brunei – peach

Canada, Mexico, and United States – lemon and lime

Chile – cantaloupe

China – watermelon

Croatia – tea

Cuba – cherry

Ecuador – strawberry

Egypt – pomegranate

England, Scotland, and Wales – toffee

Estonia – fruit punch

Finland – pistachio

Germany – apple strudel
Gibraltar – fudge
Greece – kiwi
Greenland - mincemeat
Grenada – cotton candy
Iceland – egg custard
India – honeydew
Israel – honey
Kenya – pear
Laos – root beer
Malta – chocolate éclair
Martinique – grape
Monaco – grapefruit
Morocco – cranberry
Nepal – vanilla
Netherlands – licorice
Norway – coconut
Panama – caramel apple
Russia – marzipan
Singapore – apricot
South Africa – praline cheesecake
Sweden – taffy
Thailand – cinnamon
Yemen – white chocolate